

Aboriginal Singer As London Star

LONDON, Wednesday.

Miss Georgia Lee, first Australian aboriginal girl singer ever to come to England, has been engaged as soloist with the well-known Geraldo dance band. She was just another "unknown" in London until she sang a couple of impromptu numbers at a dance palace soon after her arrival late last year. Now she has a long-term contract with Geraldo.