

Aboriginal protesters hoist flag at Canberra

Canberra's Aboriginal "embassy" has raised its own flag. The flag, hoisted above the main tent of the "embassy" over the weekend, has a black top half, representing the people, and a brown lower half, representing the land. The white spear joining the two halves, and the four white crescent shapes, represent the Aboriginal people uniting for land rights.