

Aboriginal mission leaves for China

SYDNEY. — Ten aboriginals have gone to Peking to seek China's help in a move to "shame" the Australian Government over its treatment of aboriginals.

The aboriginals — five men and five women — left Sydney by air yesterday. They will spend a month in Peking.

All expenses are being paid by the Chinese Government.

The group is being led by Mr C. "Chicka" Dixon, a former manager of the Foundation for Aboriginal Affairs.

An aboriginal law student, Mr Paul Coe, 23, said yesterday the 10 aboriginals would tell the Chinese the Australian Government did not represent aboriginal views.

"They will seek China's support in forming an international lobby directed at shaming Australia to alter its policy towards aboriginals," he said.
